Summer at LICM

Citizen Science: Monarch Larva Monitoring Project

Wednesdays in July and August

Become a citizen scientist and study monarch butterflies in LICM's Milkweed Garden.

By measuring plants, rainfall, and monarch eggs you will be collecting real data that scientists can analyze!

Your data will help them understand butterfly migration and will help conserve this species.

Each Wednesday, take a walk through this garden and see how the plants grow as habitat for visiting monarchs!

Franklin's 50th Birthday!

Friday, July 17

It's Turtle Time!

Celebrate Franklin, LICM's Eastern Box Turtle, turning 50 at a Terrific Turtle Tribute.

More information will be available on our website.

These events are free with Museum admission.

America's 250th Birthday Ball Drop

Wednesday, July 1

Noon to 4 pm

Join us to kick off America's 250th birthday with a joyful ball drop celebration designed just for kids and families!

Guests will count down together as red, white, and blue confetti rains down launching a day filled with creativity, celebration, and community.

Families can:

- Design and decorate festive birthday hats
- Create red, white, and blue necklaces to wear
- Enjoy a sweet slice of birthday cake as we honor this milestone
- Visit Red, White and Blue Blocks exhibit

This playful celebration invites families to experience this milestone through hands-on making, shared joy, and community spirit...because 250 years is something to celebrate together!

Free with Museum admission.
