

Our bays, beaches, and oceans are part of what makes Long Island so special and it's up to all of us to help keep them healthy and clean. Discover how your family can dive in and help!

Jones Beach Energy & Nature Center

Jones Beach State Park

Located on the West End of Long Island's iconic Jones Beach State Park, the Center offers permanent and rotating exhibits, public programs, and educational resources to help visitors understand and appreciate the coastal environment.

Clean the beach!

Long Island Maritime Museum

West Sayville, NY

The Long Island Maritime Museum is dedicated to preserving Long Island's rich maritime history and fostering a love for the sea. Through interactive exhibits, historic vessels, educational programs, and hands-on activities, the museum connects visitors of all ages to the region's nautical heritage and the importance of marine conservation.

See historic vessels!

The WaterFront Center

Oyster Bay, NY

Dedicated to connecting people to the water through education and recreation. Offering sailing lessons, kayak and paddleboard rentals, harbor tours on the historic oyster sloop Christeen, and hands-on marine science programs aboard the floating classroom. For over 25 years, it has provided affordable, inclusive access to the water for all ages and abilities.

Paddle a kayak!

Operation SPLASH

Freeport, NY

Think Globally, Act Locally. Operation SPLASH is a volunteer-based organization dedicated to improving the quality of Long Island's south shore bays, waterways, and beaches. SPLASH members actively carry out this mission through marine debris cleanups, advocacy efforts, and STEM-based education programs for schools.

Clean the bay!

